Hockey Games Tonight — Tuesday, June 9, 2026

There is one hockey game on the schedule tonight: the NHL Stanley Cup Final, Game 4.

Matchup	Time	TV	Series	Betting line
Carolina Hurricanes @ Vegas Golden Knights	8:00 PM EDT / 5:00 PM PT	ABC	Vegas leads 2–1	CAR -115, O/U 5.5

Sources: NHL.com Schedule (<https://www.nhl.com/schedule>) and ESPN NHL Schedule (<https://www.espn.com/nhl/schedule>)

Analysis & Predicted Winner

Predicted winner: Carolina Hurricanes (to win Game 4 and even the series 2–2).

Reasoning:

- Market signal: The betting market has Carolina as a slight road favorite at CAR -115 (per ESPN/DraftKings odds). That implies roughly a ~53% win probability, so oddsmakers lean Carolina despite Vegas leading the series.
- Series context: Vegas leads 2–1, meaning Carolina is in a near-must-win spot. Falling behind 1–3 is historically very hard to recover from, so Carolina has maximum urgency in this game.
- Low total (O/U 5.5): Sportsbooks expect a tight, defensive game — the kind of close margin where the favorite’s edge (Carolina) is more likely to decide it.

Confidence: low-to-moderate. This is a single-game playoff prediction; the line is nearly a coin flip (-115), so Vegas winning at home to take a commanding 3–1 lead is a very realistic outcome.

Important Caveats

- This is a prediction, not a result — the game had not been played as of the schedule data above.
- The odds (CAR -115, O/U 5.5) come from the ESPN/DraftKings listing and will move before puck drop.
- Note the time listed two ways: NHL.com shows 8:00 PM EDT, ESPN shows 5:00 PM (Pacific, Vegas local) — same game.
